

STILL HAS GUNS TO KILL AUTOISTS

Andrew Zerban, Who Offered to Provide 100 Pistols for Volunteer Exterminators of the Sporchers, Says He Meant It at the Time.

A flood of letters is pouring in on Andrew Zerban, the wealthy Harlem real estate dealer, who declared it his intention to purchase revolvers and gladly furnish them to citizens who would join in a grand hunt throughout Manhattan with the object of reducing the population of autoists.

"I would have to buy out an army to keep up with the demands for guns that are pouring in on me," said Mr. Zerban to an Evening World reporter today. "I have cooled down somewhat since I was almost reduced to the constancy of Lenox avenue by the big machine of Capt. Gibson, Deputy Commissioner of the Street Cleaning Department, on Wednesday.

"Do you know, that automobile flashed out of nothingness and hit me in the ribs as I was stepping off a car at One Hundred and Sixteenth street. It tore my overcoat, my undershirt, my shirt and my three undershirts to tatters, besides gouging a quantity of flesh from my arm.

"It was a wonder that when I got home I was angry. Angry, I was boiling mad. I felt the thrill of murderous excitement through my veins as I pictured myself arising from the dust where I had been crushed and blasting away at the occupants of that devil barouche. Even now, when I am sore from head to foot, I feel that I would commit wholesale homicide if any of those reckless, life-careless chauffeurs bowed me over again.

"But I have cooled off. All I want now is to have every public-spirited citizen in New York arm himself with a revolver and shoot the first automobile driver that runs over him. Every man and woman and every boy old enough to wear long trousers should go armed against these fiends who drive automobiles through the streets with the ghoul's gleam of Juggernaut.

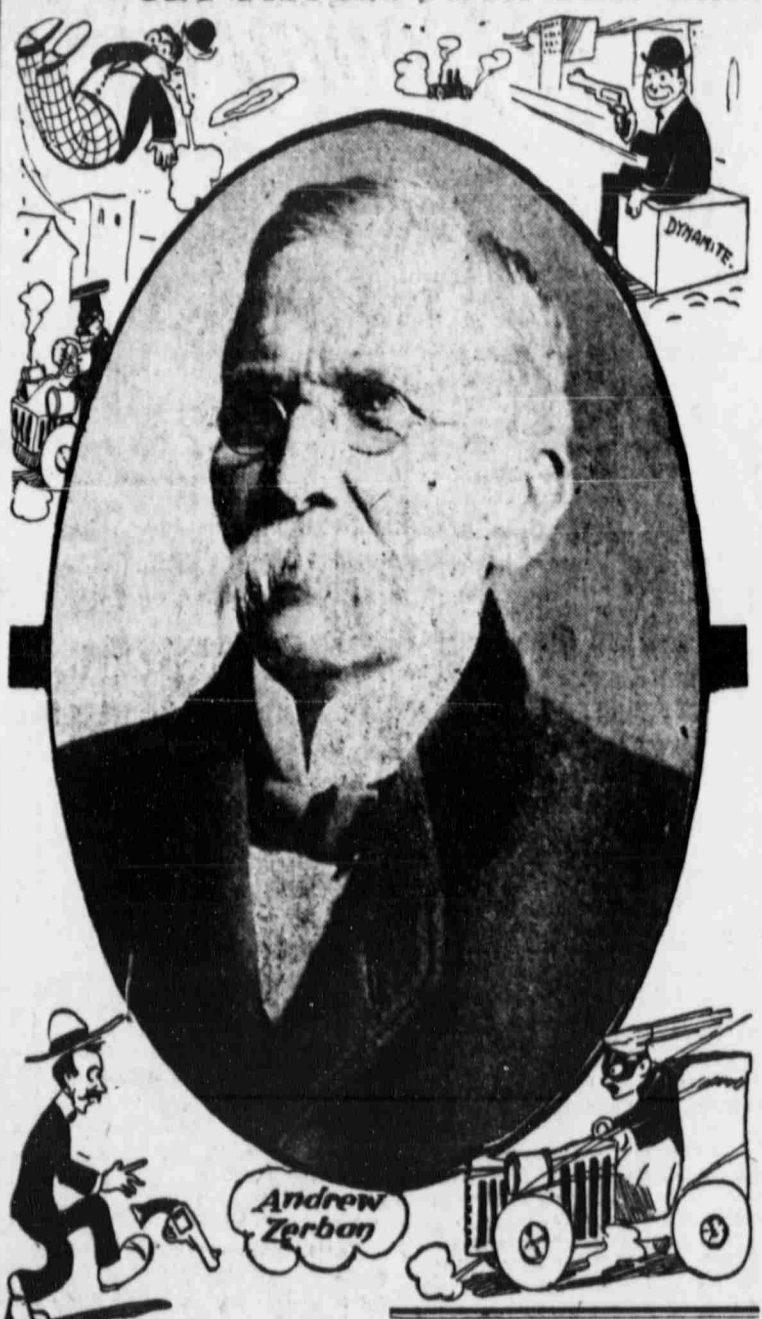

"I do want to agitate as a great mass meeting—a meeting at which the automobiles are ridden in public parks, and the drivers are shot to death. Let us all be armed and prepared to shoot to kill. Don't let me see a single automobile driver who will be dead while you are making up your mind.

"If you hear a whizz and a whir while crossing any public street whip out your weapon, wheel about with all possible agility, and shoot at the demon who drives that awful machine upon you. To be sure of accomplishing results it might be better to have explosive bullets.

"Shoot high first, as it would not be well to kill without warning. Then if the gasoline wagon continues to rush down on you shoot as fast as you can pull the trigger, and if you have killed the chauffeur you have done the public a service and taught these motor-murders of the law a lesson.

"Since I made my offer to furnish guns to the public, I find that there are scores of citizens more bloodthirsty than I. One gentleman writes that he would send out little more than a crate of dynamite bombs made and distribute them among the anarchists of the city. He said it would be splendid practice for the anarchists to shy them at every automobile that passed.

Mr. Zerban then allowed the reporter to choose from a mass of correspondence a number of letters that were characteristic. One of the letters is from George M. Elliott, of No. 166 Charles street, and reads: "Concerning the report in last night's Evening World, I would say that if you would please send me a revolver I will promise to use it in the manner you suggest. I am for the public. It has suffered long!"

J. Alexander, of the Bronx, writes to Mr. Zerban: "If you are wealthy as it is stated in the paper, why not build some along the avenue and man them with machine guns? In this way every vestige of the automobiles and their occupants could be effaced."

"I am a poor working girl," writes a Miss Gretchen Kindershotz, of Hoboken. "and my father was an anarchist by occupation. I read of your plan to generally kill automobile owners, and I would be greatly obliged for a few revolvers. Do you furnish the cartridges also?"

VICTOR HERBERT'S ORCHESTRA GOOD

First of a Series of Concerts at the Majestic Theatre Thoroughly Enjoyed by a Large Audience.

With all reverence for "sacred vaudeville," the concert given by Victor Herbert's orchestra at the Majestic Theatre last night seemed to strike the audience, an audience that exhausted the supply of programmes, as quite the ideal form of Sunday-night entertainment.

The series of concerts to be continued there throughout the autumn and winter will doubtless prove eminently successful, for the orchestra is excellent. Mr. Herbert led his musicians a fast and capricious pace, but they followed him with scarcely a mistake.

The programme, tunefully "popular," embraced several of Mr. Herbert's compositions, among them several "Babes in Toyland" selections, which brought a look of joy to the face of Julian Mitchell, who, well up in front, held his ear to catch every note of the music which brought back to the mind's eye the charming toy-like pictures he placed upon that same stage. The music was played as it was never played before and was hailed by the audience with eager delight. An Irish rhapsody by Mr. Herbert was beautiful enough to free Ireland and to win for its writer a wreath of shamrocks.

Of the three singers—Miss Anita Rio, Mr. Percy Hemus and Mr. Henry H. McChesney—the last named, who has a clear, sweet, mellow voice, carried off the honors.

BROOKLYN BRIDE'S PICKED-UP ATTIRE

Fire Destroys Miss Dorothy Eastman's Trousseau, but Plucky Brooklyn Girl Becomes Mrs. Howland Nevertheless.

In a gray silk blouse and a gray tailor-made skirt and her oldest pair of shoes, Miss Dorothy Eastman quietly became the bride of Cornelius De Forest Howland, of Brooklyn, at the residence of Henry C. Eastman, a relative, in Roslyn.

The bride's wedding garments were the only things she saved from the fire which destroyed the handsome residence of her mother, Mrs. Fred M. Eastman, of Roslyn. Her wedding trousseau, together with all the costly presents sent for the occasion, was burned. The plans for the ceremony, which was to have taken place tomorrow in Mrs. Eastman's house, had to be changed at once.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Howland are now at the home of Mr. Howland's mother, No. 831 Union street, Brooklyn. Their honeymoon will be postponed a week, although the steamship tickets were purchased and cabins engaged. Mrs. Howland will purchase another trousseau before they start.

FREE PRIVATE LECTURES TO WOMEN.

Valuable Hints on Health and Beauty That Women Should Know.

To-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon, Oct. 11, at 3 o'clock, the famous and successful physician in the treatment of nervous and special diseases, Dr. J. A. Greene, of 101 Fifth avenue, New York City, the proprietor of that best of all blood and nerve remedies, Dr. Greene's Nervura, will deliver in Cooper Union a free private illustrated lecture to women on this important information. Previous to this lecture Prof. F. Richard Davis will present his pleasing entertainment, Magic and Mystery, and Prof. Croft will give his own series of wonderful moving pictures and elegant dissolving views of Japan, showing pictures of Japanese cities, towns and the customs of the people. As admission is absolutely free and all ladies are much interested in these matters, there will doubtless be a large attendance.

500,000 WOMEN
HAVE BEEN RESTORED TO HEALTH BY
LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact, not a mere boast. Women must take into consideration this great and unequalled record Overshadowing, indeed, is the success of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine. Compared with it all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished its widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine so good for woman's ills.

REMEMBER

These important facts when you ask for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at your druggist's: If the clerk asks you to take "something else," telling you that it is "just as good" or "much better"—to be better, it must have cured more than 500,000 women; to be as good, it must have cured as many as 500,000 women—let him produce his proof! Such a thing is impossible. The medicine he offers you is only an experiment. All he knows about it is that he can make a little more profit on it than he can on what you want.

Don't let druggists experiment on you. Demand the medicine that you know is all right, that has no equal, that backs all its statements with positive proof. When you know that no other medicine in the world exclusively for women has received such unqualified endorsement, is it wise to let a dealer persuade you to buy something else which he says is "just as good," and all you have in proof is his say-so?

Wise is the woman who insists upon having

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
